

Oxford University Press

Member institutions of the Hungarian Electronic Information Service National Programme have the opportunity to publish open access in Oxford University Press Journals. This new Read & Publish agreement means that researchers are now able to publish their works with no barriers or additional costs in Oxford journals.

The agreement covers the Article Processing Charges (APCs) for affiliated corresponding authors from participating institutions who wish to publish in the hybrid journals of those collections that are subscribed by the consortium member institution. The articles are published under CC-BY, CC-BY-NC and CC-BY-NC-ND licences.
